SOOTHING WASH CURED ECZEMA

Oil of Watergreen Compound Appears to Have Solved a Vexing Medical Problem.

One of the most vexing problems in all medicine appears at last to have been solved by the most simple of all remedies. Ordinary oil of watergreen properly compounded with thymol, glycerine and other mild healing liquids, builds up the healthy skin while killing and ultimately removing the eczema germs.

This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, has now so thoroughly proven its efficacy that druggists recommend it unhesitatingly. Years of success and thousands of cures have converted even those who seemed convinced that there was "no real cure for eczema."

The sheriff of Franklin county, Frankfort, Ky., Mr. W. H. Graham, writes: "My twelve-year-old daughter had been suffering with an aggravated form of eczema for more than two years. We had her under the care of the best physicians here. Upon getting no relief, we were induced to try D. D. D. Prescription."

"She was entirely relieved. It has now been more than one year since she ceased the use of the remedy, and no sign of the trouble has appeared. I feel very grateful."

Reports indicate that all the cures by D. D. D. Prescription are permanent; and we certainly know that the very first application of this soothing oil of watergreen compound gives instant relief from the itch.

We recommend washing with D. D. D. Soap to all sufferers from eczema, also all others affected with tender or blotchy skin.

It would hardly seem reasonable to dose the stomach with so-called "blood medicines" when the very first application of an external liquid immediately shows its healing properties.

Water and Smallpox.

It has been a source of questioning and remark why the good Dr. Holton, who is holding up the entire state by his own ballistics, Brattleboro get so far into the bog before he drop it out. That goodly town, to drop metaphor, was plastered with smallpox pustules before the goodly doctor knew that the tail had got away from him and the disease was saturated with muck, before his eyes were open. Surely the boss of the board of health knew chickenpox from smallpox—or was the whole blame laid upon the small fry of practitioners outside the board of health.

Only a few months ago the goodly doctor, vanked Brattleboro by the tail out of the dangerous practice of chickenpox in his own sweat, as was alleged. He advertised in great agony that Brattleboro was a place to keep away from because its water was not potable. The people of Brattleboro had not suffered any harm nor any disturbance of health, but the boss of the board of health knew that the goodly doctor warned them not to drink water, not to serve it to strangers on pain of having all the fauces posted. He kept up the advertising for months and months at the expense of the state—not the doctor—and Brattleboro kept on drinking its alleged sewage and suffering not a bit of trouble.

We wonder if Dr. Holton is warning people now to keep away from his own town of Brattleboro as the smallpox spreads among its inhabitants because of somebody's ignorance or neglect—Brattleboro News.

Call it Cuban-itch.

Editor, Times: From official reports, it is now quite thoroughly understood that there has not been a genuine case of smallpox in Brattleboro, decided by a specialist from Washington, D. C. and further, who had experience with the disease and pronounced it Cuban-itch or Cuban-itch, very much like smallpox in appearance and just as contagious and equally as hard to stamp out, but not as dangerous, as people seldom die with it, and are not nearly as sick with it, and the doctors there are now of the same opinion.

Sketch of The Rev. P. N. Granger.

The Rev. Elmy N. Granger, one of the oldest ministers in the Vermont Methodist conference, who died Wednesday at his home in Peacham, was ordained to the ministry in 1835, and had done continuous work since. The veteran clergyman was born in Bethel November 26, 1822, the son of John and Eunice (Owen) Granger. His education was received in the common schools of Woodstock, to which place his parents moved from Bethel. Early possessed of a strong desire for adventure, he embarked when a young man on a whaling voyage. After three years of this life he returned to Vermont and in a few years later entered the ministry.

In 1849 he married Miss Sophia Richmond of Woodstock. Six children were born to them; three of whom are living. Mrs. Harrison McLaughlin, of Peacham, Frank R. of St. Johnsbury, and Guy R. of Walden. There are twelve grandchildren. Mrs. Granger died in 1875, and two years later Mr. Granger married Miss Ellen Stevens of Derby, who survives him.

Mr. Granger had filled acceptably pastorate in many parts of Vermont, going to the Peacham church four years ago. He was preaching elder of the St. Albans district 1882-1885 and of the St. Johnsbury district 1878-1881. He served as county commissioner eight years, and in 1872 represented the town of Peacham and in 1874 was senator from Caledonia county.

The funeral services were in the charge of the Rev. F. W. Lewis, preaching elder of the St. Johnsbury district, assisted by the Rev. O. J. Angier and the Rev. J. M. Frost of St. Johnsbury, and the Rev. M. H. Smith of Concord.

Montpelier, Dec. 2, 1908.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Barre People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Sick kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions are dark, contain a sediment.

Passages are frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is constant day and night. Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent.

The weakened kidneys need quick help. Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Barre evidence proves this statement.

L. H. Hooker, retired, 101 Prospect street, Barre, Vt., says: "Since I first used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago, I have recommended them to at least fifty people, and have heard everyone who has used this remedy give it a word of praise. I suffered for a long time from kidney complaint and my condition finally became so bad that I was worried. My back ached most of the time and an annoying kidney weakness existed. I used every remedy that was brought to my attention, but without deriving any benefit, and I, at last, resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills. I used in all five boxes and was benefited in a wonderful manner."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"THAT WILD SCOTCHMAN."

Carnegie's Little Tilt with the Steel Rail Pool—Why the Trust Was Formed.

It was in 1890 that Mr. Carnegie got ideas of his own on steel rails and set the steel rail pool, which was then in existence, seething. The result was the breaking up of the pool, which had been selling rails at $24 a ton. Carnegie had been one of the biggest rail men in this pool, but he wanted to shade prices a little, hence the row.

John W. Gates of the Illinois Steel company became busy and advertised his rails at $17 bid down in Chicago. This was a cut of $7 a ton from the former pool price and was intended to worry Mr. Carnegie, who was the biggest maker of steel rails in the world. It didn't worry Mr. Carnegie a bit, but it made him mad, and inside of forty-eight hours he had every other rail maker in the United States worried. He offered to pay down rail for rail with Gates at Chicago, at $15.50, another cut of $1.50 a ton, and what was worse he said this through the press:

"And if this price isn't low enough, I will cut another dollar and will make money on steel rails."

This was the blow that hurt. Carnegie had uncovered former workings of the rail pool by showing that rails which had been sold at $24 a ton could be sold at a profit at $14.50. To Gates and others it became patent that Carnegie would sooner or later put others out of business by his "breaks," and it was decided to call a meeting of outside steel men to see if something could not be done to get rid of Carnegie.

"Get that wild Scotchman out of the business or we'll have to get out," was the statement of John W. Gates when he talked with others about it. "He'll jump into print with trade secrets and is dangerous."

According to information here, it was at this time that the outside steel interests of the country went to Mr. Carnegie and asked him to get out of the business, offering to pay him an immense price for all his holdings, but their offer was not high enough, and it was not until three years later that the corporation was formed and Carnegie retired.

Since then they have been trying to keep Mr. Carnegie quiet—and they succeeded for eight long years.—Pittsburgh dispatch to New York Commercial.

Marked for Death.

"Three years ago I was marked for death. A grave-yard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me and I was near the end. My husband got Dr. King's New Discovery." says Mrs. A. C. This medicine holds the world's healing record for coughs and colds and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia.
